

EDUCATION

Johns Hopkins University, School of Advanced International Studies	Bologna, Italy & Washington, DC
Master of Arts, International Economics & European Studies	2014 – 2016
Cornell University	Ithaca, NY
Bachelor of Arts, English & French	2008 – 2012

RELEVANT PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Keybridge	Washington, DC
Senior Economist	2016 – Present

Provides strategic consulting services on economic trends and policy issues to private sector clients and trade associations in the energy, telecom, financial, and industrial sectors. Identifies research questions, develops analytical methodologies, conducts quantitative analysis and literature reviews, drafts survey instruments, and interviews industry leaders and subject matter experts. Communicates insights to non-technical audiences (including CEOs, C-suite executives, state government officials, and other business and policy leaders) through written reports, closed-door briefings, and public presentations.

The Conference Board	Brussels, Belgium
Economic Research Intern	2015

Supported the development of a wage growth forecasting model for 20 economies. Wrote reports detailing outlook for European economies based on analysis of macroeconomic indicators. Presented webcast on sectoral impacts of proposed EU-US trade agreement (TTIP) to organization membership.

Bologna Institute for Policy Research	Bologna, Italy
Research Assistant	2015

Hosted biweekly seminar series with researchers in international relations, economics, finance, and history. Interviewed guest speakers, authored thematic summaries and edited videos for online publication.

CORE COMPETENCIES

- Econometric Analysis and Forecasting
- Economic Policy Analysis
- Data Analysis and Management
- Political Risk Analysis
- Macroeconomic Risk Analysis
- Strategic Planning
- Project Management
- Public Speaking and Moderating
- Survey Design and Implementation